Background

In an effort to further expand the use one central document repository and improve business processes, CHA will further enhance its current SharePoint Enterprise Content Management System (“ECMS”). The requested enhancement of the current ECMS is referred to as iFile Phase II.

In February 2015, the Chicago Housing Authority replaced its legacy document management solution by implementing a new Enterprise Content Management System (also known as iFile Phase I). This solution leveraged the Microsoft SharePoint platform and today consists of additional integrated systems and modules from KnowledgeLake, including its Imaging, Capture Server Pro, Unify and Advance Capture systems. This effort included the migration of over ten (10) million documents from the legacy system into iFile. The solution increased customer service delivery and operational efficiencies by providing rapid, intuitive records search and retrieval capability as well as providing an integrated means to scan, capture, store, manage and retain information assets across departments in the Authority.

With iFile Phase II, CHA will upgrade to the most current versions of KnowledgeLake and Metalogix StoragePoint software, expand the use and capabilities of CHA’s iFile system, identify and create new document types and document libraries for selected departments, and optimize existing business process into electronic workflows.
